

TEACHING ABOUT RELIGION

Policy 381.1

Page 1 of 1

Because religion influences many areas of education, such as history, literature and music, teachers are permitted to expose students to information concerning religions and religious beliefs. Teachers shall not advocate or denigrate a particular religion or religious beliefs. Religious education is the responsibility of the home and the student's religious institution.